Matthew Felty is a director at Lytle Soulé & Felty, P.C. Recognized by Super Lawyers as a Rising Star from 2016 to present, Mr. Felty has extensive experience in complex litigation in state and federal court in Oklahoma. He has represented both companies and individuals across a variety of practice areas including oil and gas, manufacturers' products liability, insurance coverage, catastrophic personal injury, complex commercial disputes, aviation disputes, engineering and construction litigation, and Indian law with an emphasis on Oklahoma's State-Tribal Gaming Act and the federal Indian Gaming Regulatory Act.

In addition, Mr. Felty routinely serves as local counsel for firms from larger markets, such as New York and Texas, providing around the clock assistance on matters ranging from subpoena and discovery disputes to brief preparation, as well as hearing attendance and argument.

Finally, in his role as plaintiff's counsel, Mr. Felty has successfully recovered over eight figures in settlements for clients since 2012, on matters ranging from the representation of individuals who have been catastrophically injured to the representation of companies in tort and contractual disputes.
